

Richal Flannery has been an active member of GCC and ODS since 2007 (I think?) Richal graduated from Oklahoma State University in 2007 where she was part of the OSU dressage team and earned her bachelors in Animal Science Production. During her time in Stillwater she worked for and learned from Robin Hessel at Valley View Equestrian Center where her passion for dressage truly developed. Richal has since taken every opportunity that presents its self to learn more about classical dressage. Richal has been training horses professionally for over 10 years. She recognizes the benefits of dressage to all disciplines and applies it to all of her horses and students training program. Richal loves the sport of dressage and wants to do her part in helping the sport grow.
